Commodore's Comments

by Howard Cabezas

The annual end of the year dinner has been postponed to a tentative date of October 19th. The specifics will be emailed out to everyone as soon as we have finalized the details. So please keep an eye out for the email and send your RSVPs in right away. We need to make sure we will have enough members to have the annual dinner and elections or we will have to cancel the dinner.

I would like to thank all of you for the great participation in the events over the summer. Also, we all need to thank Lynne and Maggie for all their hard work planning the events and making them a success.

Oh, yeah, there is one more sailing race this month, the Gear Buster race, followed by the Chili and Chocolate dinner at the marina. Make sure to RSVP for this dinner with Lynne or Maggie.

Happy Sails,

-Howard

2019 Racing Season Recap

Another racing season draws to a close. Unusual for September, Race 8 was moved from Saturday 9/21 to Sunday 9/22 due to a lack of wind. While the fleet started Race 8 optimistically, we had to cut the distance back to a single lap of the large inflatable orange marks due to light air. (Speaking of which, we used the inflatable orange bag marks since we lost both of our East and West race marks late in the season. No word on which direction they are headed. They are both marked with our name and a phone number so if they did not sink, they may show up again.)

The results for the 2019 season are:

First: Lanakai - Tony Kutyana
 Second: Ruthie - Howard Cabezas
 Third: Brewster - Jim McGinnis

This year we experimented with a Race Committee-by-Committee, and it worked very well. We asked for volunteers for each race to coordinate the pre-race meeting, the start sequence and record the finish times. Tom Alley was always able to get the race results electronically and post the finishing order on the www.FLYC.US website — sometimes within minutes of completing the race. We should all thank Howard Cabezas, Tom Alley, John Chesbrough and most of all Tony Kutyana who picked up the mantle and presided over the last few races. We had a few new racers join the fray this year and we hope to see them add to the fleet again next year.

Our last race is affectionately known as the "Gear Buster". It is scheduled for October 12th at 1PM. It is intended to help you get a jump start on all the stuff you need to buy over the winter when visions of whisker poles and lighter turning blocks dance in your head. (Tom Alley is exempt since he already broke enough stuff this year to qualify for several sessions and will be out of the water for a Marine Survey.) The rest of you - See you out there and then stop by for the Annual Chili Cook-off Competition at 5PM. The fantastic variations we get on Hot chili are always timely after this race.

Seneca Lake Barge Race Report

Once again, the FLYC was represented at the annual Seneca Yacht Club Barge Race on September 7th, 2019. This year Tomfoolery and her crew made the trip north to Geneva to compete.

Winds were a comfortable 12-14 knots out of the westnorthwest and stayed unusually steady the entire day, enabling the race leaders to complete the 24 nautical mile race in just under 4 hours. A total of 11 boats competed in this year's event:

- 1st Shorthanded
- 2nd Tomfoolery (FLYC)
- 3rd Tue Pre't
- 4th Take Time Too...
- 5th Blue Star
- 6th Imagine
- 7th Courtesan
- 8th Chelsea Song
- 9th V-48
- 10th La Vida
- 11th Chocolatero

On Sunday, as Tomfoolery motored home on a depressingly calm day, they were treated to the spectacle of the southerly migration of hundreds of Monarch butterflies!

Tom West, SYC Cruising Fleet Captain, has again invited FLYC members to join them for the 2020 race!

Final scores for the 2019 season are shown below.

See you next season!

What's Up With The Marina?

By Tom Alley

We've all heard multiple rumors on the future of our marina. There is activity all over the place and there are huge sums of money being funneled into the Watkins Glen community to make improvements and investments in the future of the area. What has been lacking, however, has been concrete information about what the future holds for the Watkins Glen waterfront and, ultimately, our marina and its ability to be a home port to our vessels.

Recently the annual meeting of Project Seneca was held. Unfortunately, I was not able to attend, but other marina members were and when I inquired, I was directed to a web site with additional information. Below are some of the slides used in the presentation that contain information which sheds some light on what the plans are at this time.

Waste Water Treatment Plant Repurposing

The reuse feasibility study will include a feasibility analysis and reuse design alternatives for the soon to be decommissioned lakefront Wastewater Treatment Plant and associated adjacent public land in Watkins Glen. The analysis and design will include highest and best use feasibility analysis with detailed alternative design options for municipal consideration.

[What I find interesting in this slide is the "parking lot" on the right side of the rendering showing the outlines of boats. Is this where the boatyard will be relocated to? – Ed.]

Editor's Corner

by Tom Alley

The Season vs The Goal

After several years of enjoying extended boat trips each summer, this year was a bit of a "non-event". The furthest we ventured from the dock this year was the north end of Seneca Lake to attend the Seneca Yacht Club's annual Barge Race. Other than participating in some of the local club races, you probably only saw me carrying tools, parts, and sometimes even pieces of my boat up and down the dock all season.

You can't really blame the weather on keeping me at the dock. While we've certainly had better years for sailing, we've also definitely had worse ones! No, the weather was probably "average" for us; nothing to brag about but nothing worthy of disappointed rants either.

Granted, I did have an elusive problem with my motor early in the season. The eventual cause, however, proved to be simple if one simply knew where to look. (Hint: It was the small filter in the fused-shut housing buried under the lift pump assembly on the back side of the motor!)

No, this year Tomfoolery stayed close to home by design as part of a longer-term plan. 2019 was designated as a "project year" where various projects on the boat would be the primary focus.

SV Tomfoolery

The goal is to prepare our fair sloop for an ocean voyage in the early summer of 2021.

It's always a hard decision when you have to choose between what essentially amounts to giving up a sailing season or possibly giving up a longer-term goal. I went through the same mental back-and-forth nine years ago while deciding to put Tomfoolery in dry dock for 18 months in order to do some major maintenance. While the tasks this year didn't require staying out of the water entirely, they were time consuming enough to keep me from wandering off very far from our home port.

Sometimes, however, we get a little "nudge" that forces our hand. In my case, it's the calendar. There's only so much time between now and 2021, and while the full project list doesn't need to be completed, there are some non-negotiable tasks that have to be in the "done" column well before our planned departure date.

And the goal of all this? Stay tuned for the next installment in your club newsletter!
